Judd Wants to Bid His Ex-Love Mate "Good-by" Before Going to Prison

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Henry Judd Gray would like to bid farewell to his former "love mate," Mrs. Ruth Snyder, before they die in the electric chair for the murder of her husband.

Twice since his conviction Monday, Gray, whose story of the tragedy as told from the witness stand directly involves Mrs. Snyder and contradicted her plea of innocence, has expressed a desire to bid adieu to her as she is to be executed.

"I didn't want to bid her," Gray told Henry Manner, under sheriff. "The head you can do it for me and say goodbye."

"The State's doing what it wanted with her and me," Gray continued. Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

Three Nations' Fleets

Hunt Missing Fliers

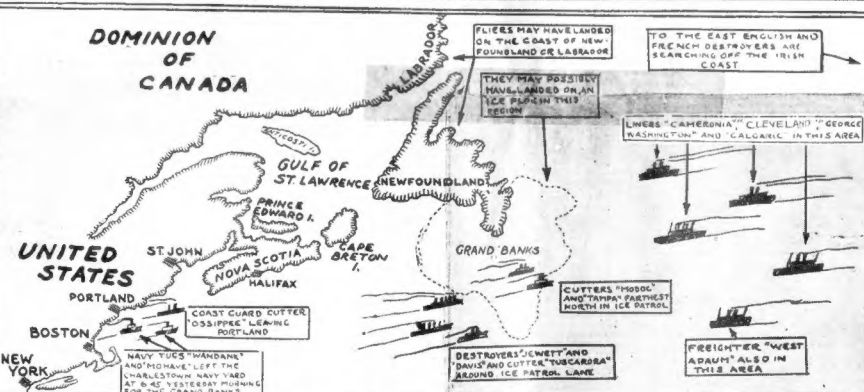

CHART SHOWS ATLANTIC-WIDE SEARCH BEING MADE BY SHIPS OF SEA AND AIR
The greatest sea quest in history now on to find the lost French aviators is graphically set forth in the artist's drawing from the map and today's ship locations. From Boston across a three thousand-mile stretch of ocean eastward to Ireland aircraft and watercraft of many types seek trace of Captain Nungesser and Coli. Naval craft of three nations are combing the sea, aided by airplanes. Merchant steamers on and off the traffic lane are lending a hand, together with Coast Guard cutters, tugs and other craft.

U. S. FLIGHT PLANNED DESPITE WARNING

Washington, May 11 (A.P.).—The search for the Nungesser-Coli airplane will be carried into mid-Atlantic waters by the Coast Guard and sea planes from the Boston station. These planes will base themselves upon the cutter Mojave.

The sea and land gave back no answer today to the incessant calls for word of the missing airmen—Captains Nungesser and Coli.

The Radio Corporation, the independent wireless and the navy swept the wide Atlantic with radio queries—and met a wall of silence.

The "White Bird" was 46 anxious hours overdue at New York at 1 o'clock this afternoon on her flight from Paris and was last seen heading northwest off Killybeg, Ireland, Sunday morning. There was a report early today that the plane was found at Truro, N. S., but this was quickly proved to be false.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 10.—In Paris, two sorrowful women, the mothers of Nungesser and his companion, Captain Coli, weep and pray for their sons, lost on the ocean.

"Every week since my boy became an aviator," says Madame Coli, "I have gone to implore Our Lady of Lourdes for him." Hope that the men may return safely will last several days, even a week or two. A slow streamer or sailing ship without radio may have picked them up. The chance

IRISH BOND MONEY TO GO TO SUBSCRIBERS

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Supreme Court Justice Pitney today dismissed the suit brought by the Irish Free State claiming to be the successor of the Irish Republic and entitled to the bonds subscribed for in the United States for the Republic.

Justice Pitney also denied the claim for the bonds of Eamon De Valera and his co-defendant, O'Hara, and ruled that the bonds should be sold and proceeds revert to original subscribers.

By the ruling some $2,500,000 which was subscribed to the Irish Republic cause in this country will go back to the subscribers after being tied up in litigation since 1922.

YANKEE FLIERS WILL HOP OFF SATURDAY ON FLIGHT TO PARIS

PLAN TRIP DESPITE WARNING

mailing airmen, sponsors of the "Columbia" sealed the plane's instruments and awaited only favorable weather before starting the 3,800-mile cruise, in which Nungesser and Goll sailed.

As disappointment in France over the failure of the airmen to achieve their New York goal deepened into fears of tragedy, Ambassador Lorraine yesterday notified the State Department that the start of any plane from America for Paris might be "misunderstood and misinterpreted."

Following a conference of the Bellanca pilots and flight sponsors on the suggestion of Ambassador Lorraine, Charles A. Levine head of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation, owners of the plane, said the start, earlier in the day set for Thursday would be deferred to Saturday, when Nungesser's fate undoubtedly would be known.

WILL START SATURDAY.

The Columbia was scheduled to start at 1 o'clock this morning, but unfavorable weather conditions forced postponement. Clear weather expected by Saturday.

"The finest tribute we could pay these brave men was to take up the attempt where circumstances had compelled them to lay it down," Mr. Levine declared in a statement.

Lloyd Bernard, manager of the Columbia, said, "We want to go to Paris if they don't want us. We'll fly over and around the Eiffel Tower, touch our wheels at Le Bourget and then in London and land at Clichy Field."

ARE READY TO GO.

"We know that Nungesser and Goll are wonderful fliers, and if any two men in the world could succeed under the conditions they could," Mr. Bernard said.

"I don't see how it is possible to get the jump on us and we hoped for their success as much as anyone in France did. Now is our chance. Let's go."

As the plane's departure, said Clarence Chamberlin, the plane's pilot, nothing in agreement.

Virtually every detail of the Bellanca expedition has been completed. The French government has been asked to arrange patrol duty off the French coast, in the event of a forced descent at sea and the Coast Guard cutter Modoc will stand 1,500 miles due west of New York to mark the course of the flight, Mr. Levine said.

Even the wives of the pilots have received their husbands' licenses.

U. S. Won't Oppose Flight by Crew of the Columbia

Washington, May 11 (AP).—The Federal Government will interpose no objections to the start of the transatlantic flight of the Bellanca plane this week, it was announced at the State Department today.

The State Department's message from Paris advising that the flight be postponed because of unfavorable weather in Paris.

The State Department's message said, "consider it has gone as far as it can in the present state of affairs."

HUB FLIERS OUT OF SKY HUNT

Weather conditions were so unfavorable today that Major J. M. Longenecker, army air officer for New England, announced that it was unlikely any army airplanes would leave the East Boston airport in search for the missing French fliers.

According to Major Longenecker, the reports of the weather observers at the Army Base showed a surface wind south, southwest, of 15 miles per hour; at an altitude of 500 feet there was a southwest wind of 20 miles per hour; at an altitude of 1,000 feet there was a west-southwest wind of 25 miles per hour.

The extreme "fog" at which there was any visibility was 1,500 feet, which made flying practically impossible if observations were to be taken.

Brother Confident That Nungesser Will Be Rescued

Cherbourg, France, May 11 (AP).—Leon Nungesser, brother of Captain Nungesser, is confident that he will be found.

"My brother is alive," Leon declared as he embarked on the naval dispatch boat Albatros, sent to join the search along the French coast. "I have an intuition that his plane will be found off the coast of Brittany and that we shall find it floating in the Channel."

Dispatched yesterday and today indicated that the Nungesser plane passed the English Channel safely and was last seen over southern Ireland.

NAB BOYS AFTER AUTO CHASE

After a chase through half a mile of streets, two fifteen-year-old boys were arrested by the Charlestown police, today, charged with the theft of an automobile.

The boys, Charles E. Robinson of High street and Douglas W. Murray of Auburn street, were captured as they endeavored to hide under a wagon on Warren avenue.

The boys, it is charged, stole the automobile of James J. Dyer of 20 W. Warden street, Cambridge, on the way to Charlestown. It collided with the car of Edward Broadhead in front of No. 39 Park street.

The boys fled and Traffic Officer Edward G. Quinn and Fred C. Fallon gave chase. The youngsters will appear in court on Monday morning, following a preliminary arraignment today.

Ruth Deserves Fate, Say Boston Women

Boston women are unanimous in declaring that Mrs. Ruth Snyder, the "Tiger Woman" of the Gray-Snyder murder case, and Judd Gray deserve the fate decreed them by a Long Island jury.

The Boston Evening American has obtained a number of opinions from prominent women, in which they voice their approval of the "guilty" verdict carrying the death penalty rendered against Gray and Mrs. Snyder.

Some of the interviews follow:

DEATH VERDICT FAIR, SAYS JUDD

New York, May 11 (AP).—The Evening World today says that Henry Judd Gray finds no fault with the verdict of first degree murder returned against him and Mrs. Ruth Snyder.

Gray's words were transmitted to the Evening World by Sheriff William Desmond.

Further quoting Gray through Sheriff Desmond, Gray is reported to have said: "And now that it's all over, I'm heartily glad that I told the truth, however hard it goes with me. My wife and my relatives and friends seem to have forgiven me, and I'm happier than I've been in a long, long time."

Snyder Insurance Held Up Pending Ruth's Appeal

Newark, N. J., May 11 (AP).—Alfred Burrell, vice-president and general counsel of the Prudential Insurance Company, today said that no statement regarding the $75,000 worth of life insurance on Albert Snyder, slain air officer, would be made until the appeal of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, his widow, who was convicted of murder in his slaying, was disposed of by the New York courts.

Mrs. Snyder was named beneficiary in the policy.

GRAY BEGS FOR CHANCE TO BID RUTH GOOD-BY

"What reason is there for not letting me see her now? I tell you I don't want her to suffer. I'm sorry the verdict went so hard against her. I just couldn't do anything else. I told the truth. I got as I had to tell it. And now I feel better. But I've got to see her once again. Can you let me?"

It is considered extremely unlikely, however, that the court's decision will be granted. He and Mrs. Snyder will see each other in court Monday when they are to be sentenced. After that they will be conveyed in separate automobiles to Sing Sing, where there will be no opportunity for communication.

Legal steps toward the settlement of the estate of Albert Snyder will be started soon. A guardian for the child, Lorraine, and an administrator for the estate are expected to be sought.

Further litigation is expected to be involved in collection of the life insurance on the life of Snyder, which totaled $75,000. While the insurance company has given no indication of what its attitude will be, it is thought the matter will be taken to court.

Gray was reported as apparently unimpaired by the prospect of death, but Mrs. Snyder was said to be suffering from extreme nervousness, though far from a collapse.

Commenting on published reports that the woman had suffered a hysterical collapse, Frank P. Fox, warden at the Queens County Jail in Long Island City, said she "is in as good health as she has been since her arrest."

At the district attorney's office it was indicated by both sides that the appeal will be based mainly upon the grounds that lawyers' evidence was introduced, and in the case of Mrs. Snyder that she was not granted a separate trial.

Edward E. Hamilton of counsel for Mrs. Snyder said an appeal would be filed at once.

"Mrs. Snyder has been convicted of murder in the first degree, but she is in a long way from the electric chair," he said.

Mrs. Snyder's Mother Visits Her in Cell

New York, May 11.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder was cheered in her cell in the Queens County Jail today by a visit by her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown.

Earlier in the forenoon attendants had permitted one or two women prisoners to join Mrs. Snyder in her exercise "lounge" up and down the jail corridors. She conversed freely with these new-made companions. She spent a restful night. It was said.

Further precautions were taken today to prevent the convicted woman from harming herself in a fit of despondency. Orders were given to serve all her food in aluminum dishes and a matron was assigned to stand over her while she ate. She will be permitted to have the use of a knife and fork.

The Liberal, headed by former Premier David Lloyd George, will also press several amendments.

"ROAD HOG" FORCES CAR INTO TREE; 3 KILLED

Bracon, N. Y., May 11 (U.S.A.)—Two youths and a girl were killed and two other youths and two girls injured today when their automobile crashed into a tree near Lataville. The dead are Bernard Wilson, 26, of Fulton, driver; Rose Mitigas, 26, and Miss Bernia Weir, both of Syracuse. The automobile was forced from the road by a passing machine.

'I Didn't Mean to Hurt Her'

Joseph McCall of Revere, who on Sunday night killed his wife by slashing her throat with a carving knife, today wept at his victim's bier while deputy sheriffs stood on either side of him.

It was an unusual request that the slayer made of the authorities—that he be allowed to attend the funeral of his wife.

"I was drunk. I didn't know until the next day that Nellie was dead," he said in his request to Sheriff William Keither. Relatives of the dead woman joined with the slayer-husband in his request.

Sheriff Keither consulted the district attorney and permission was granted for McCall to attend the funeral.

McCall was taken from his cell in the Charles street jail, where he is being held awaiting arraignment. He was permitted to shave, while his suit was being pressed in the prison tailor shop.

An automobile from the district attorney's office conveyed him and two deputy sheriffs to the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Revere.

The casket containing the body of the slain woman had been carried into the church when the prisoner arrived. As he passed through the portals of the edifice he broke down. He was assisted to the altar, where the body of his wife lay.

Throwing himself on his knees and performing the sign of the cross, the tortured man wept abjectly. For a time it was feared he would collapse entirely. He was finally led to a pew, where, during the service, he wept with his head clasped between his hands.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Joseph McManis. In the church were relatives of the dead woman. There was not a dry eye as McCall was finally led from his seat to the waiting automobile to be returned to his cell.

"I didn't mean to do it! God knows I didn't mean to do it! I loved Nellie," he sobbed as he was placed in the car.

McCall, who is 27, stabbed his wife during a family altercation that resulted from his drinking. His wife's brother, James Rausman, was hit by a knife during the quarrel. McCall was arrested after the slaying.

Seizing a small butcher knife, McCall started towards his brother-in-law. The wife stepped between them and she paid for her intervention with her life. The blade penetrated an artery in her neck and she died on the way to the hospital.

McCall realized he had slain his wife, when he had sobered up in jail. He had obtained from drink until last Saturday, when he procured liquor from a Revere bootlegger and became drunk. His wife was a former Beachmont girl.

HELEN MAKES HER ENTRANCE—No word was spoken. Helen's face was pale and drawn and she was visibly fighting for self-control. But no words were uttered until the carriage of the "Red Rover" came to a halt at the door.

"Except for these officials who goaded me so curiously," Her eyes swept the room and came to rest on Rosalind. Roger, who was watching her closely, saw her undergo a bewildering change. Her lips trembled and her eyes filled with tears. Rosalind turned to look at Hlelen, bewilderment in her eyes. Had Helen tried to do with the murder? Could it be true, she asked herself?

A TOUCHING SPECTACLE
—Before anyone could stop her, the girl disappeared into the crowd, leaving a trail of tears and a message: to the police, to the press, to the world. The girl was not believed. Roger stood by, overcome with the spectacle. Even the detectives were touched.

HELEN PLEADS WITH ROGER—Helen recovered as quickly as she had broken down. Her body stiffened with resolve as she turned to Roger. "I'll go with you," she said. "I can't let you go alone. I've got to see you through this."

Face Powder
If the face powder you now use does not clear your skin, it's not your skin's fault. It's the powder's. Many girls in male teams have given their advice: "Don't use face powder. It's too greasy and too messy." The reason for it is that in the girls' locker room, the face powder is greasy and messy. It's not the girls' fault. It's the powder's. It's not your skin's fault. Pickwick Papers

By Charles Dickens

MR. PICKWICK decided to engage the shrewd Sam Weller as a valet. Telling his landlady that he would like to have a valet, he said, "I want a valet who will be as handy as a monkey and as smart as a cat."

INTERPRETING Mr. Pickwick's question as a proposal, Sam Weller, being a first hand valet, he at once offered his services and to the satisfaction of his master, he was engaged.

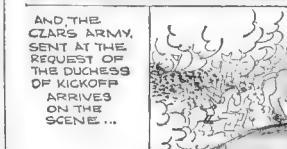

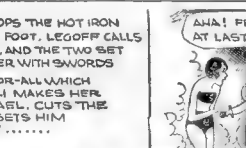

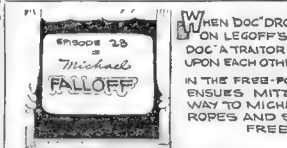

AS the suit was set for three months ahead, Mr. Pickwick blithely went off in search of a venture. At an inn he inadvertently got into the wrong room, sent a middle-aged spinster into hysterics, and narrowly escaped a duel later on with her angry fiancé.

STILL later, as the Christmas holidays approached, he visited the Weller family at their farm. There he was the life of the party, what with his fancy sliding, until the ice proved inadequate to his considerable weight. (Continued Tomorrow.)

BE POPULAR IN YOUR HOME AND NOT DISAGREEABLE

There is the place where some, at the least provocation, show their discontent and most disagreeable traits. As long as these in your home bow to your wishes you are good natured enough.

But let members of the family insist upon recognition of their desires, and you become angry and overbearing. You do not allow yourself to show any such disposition when you try to make an effort to be pleasing and popular. Why not try to be popular at home?

Secret to please and be popular at home will get you more real pleasure and happiness than you will ever get outside.

The home of greatest joy is the home where members of the family make a real effort to please one another.

Looking at this from a purely selfish standpoint, the one who does his part toward creating a pleasant atmosphere at home, receives the most joy from so doing.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE MAHLON CODE

By Merilyn Swift

VIDA was reluctant to admit that the man for whom she had given so much was a wastrel and a scamp. But each night for a week he had not been home and he had given her money which she forced he had not earned. He would not say where he got it.

Gene Mahlon had never worked. When Veda married him her friends said she was a fool, even though it was well known that on his twentieth birthday he would come into a fortune.

When they married he had some money and so had she, perhaps enough combined to enable them to live in fair comfort for the year and a half until he should come into his inheritance. She had been warned to wait until everything was certain. Her people had advised her, so had his. But Veda loved him with an impatient love. Surely they could carry on... just the two of them, for a year and a half. Love said they would manage somehow.

So, in defiance of relatives and friends, they were married and were told by the former to expect no help from them. The latter merely shook their heads in sympathetic understanding.

It might have been easy if there had not been a little bit of trouble in the shape of Gene Mahlon, Jr. His arrival had been very costly and his upkeep was no small item in their budget. So the end of fifteen months found the little family badly in need of funds, and they could not borrow against the inheritance. That was a violation of the will that old Mrs. Mahlon had made. Gene would fix everything as he negotiated any loan on the money that was not his until he became twenty-eight. They had already sold a lot of their little personal effects in a brave endeavor to carry on.

There was work. Timidly his wife had suggested that to Gene. Work, but what could he do? His education was superficial enough, and he was a decidedly impractical fellow. There was a dearth of jobs and there was a barrier to surmount in a silly pride that had belonged to the Mahlons for generations. The notion had branded them as the servitors of no man.

Another woman would have scoffed at the Mahlon pride, called it foolish snobbery. Veda did not. She knew it was ingrained, a part of her husband's code. And it was hard to imagine the exquisite, perfect Gene blushing his hands on a pick or getting backaches over a ledger.

Yet, domineering his pride, he had gone to many places. No one wanted unskilled labor. There was nothing it seemed he could do. Sadly he confessed to her that his efforts to find employment were fruitless. There was still three months to go—three months, and little Gene needed a go-cart and some pretty clothes. Veda wanted a coat. Gene had only one suit that was at all presentable. And then waiting for a twenty-eighth birthday was money sufficient to keep them in comfort for the rest of their days.

Just when things were most straitened Gene started playing out nights. In the daytime he looked wan and haggard. He was short-tempered, too, and did not want to talk much.

The money he gave her was not nearly enough for their needs. If he would not work, then she must be industrious to group his broken English.

She understood at last and went to a midnight dance at the end of the long month. Her first trip to the dance.

She tried into that field, stuffy hole and there, dressed in a plaid gown, were a crowd of a great pyramid of bones was Gene Mahlon, her husband.

They went home together in the early morning. They went home, arm-in-arm, very close together. "It's not so bad for a while," said Gene. "I'm getting a good work now. But you don't need to be so nervous."

"It's no longer 'Kitty, Gene' she answered. "It's a Jane... a Jane, now, and something we'll laugh about for the rest of time—when we're rich?"

MEDBURY SAYS--

By JOHN F. MEDBURY
COORDINATOR to several athletic associations, American has the best cross-country runners in the world. There's a fellow in Texas who's so fast that the chlorophylls have to follow him on motorcycles.
He can beat his voice to the top of the Alps and overtake his echo on the way back.
WHEN it comes to sprinting, he makes Paddock and Nurm look like a couple of snails.
SO far, he's only two bunions behind the champion.
DURING the last race his arches began falling and he didn't even stop to pick them up.
He's paced twenty five lak-nab-lins, and never noticed them. He thought they were centaur paces.
He's always got through a town so fast that the other runners usually get pinned for vagrancy.
He makes two kinds of quicksilver look like a quart of blue gin.

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON--BY HELEN ROWLAND

VERILY, my Daughter, the Laws of the Land are full of wisdom. For lo, they protect the women and the children and the weaklings.

But alas, where shall they find it all the world any law which protect a man of ripened years from his own folly?

Go to. Who is so helpless, who is so beset with temptation as a man in his Indian Summer, that seeketh his "last thing" before the last night out?

Behold, a youth pursued holly as a kitten chases its tail, but his eyes are sharp to perceive the coming of danger, and his feet are fleet at dodging. He sees the snare of the gold-digger and the net of the husband-baiter, and maketh his quick escape!

But the eyes of a man in his late forties have lost their cunning and are full of trustfulness. His heart is more tender than during his youth, and his head is clearer than his grandfather's.

He glances in his mirror and perceiveth therein a conqueror of women and a shatterer of hearts. He saith: "What? A man is only as old as he feeleth; and behold, I feel like a yearling!"

He forgetteth his artifice and remembereth not his blood-pressure. He denorth the Black Bottom and denorth not the warnings of his doctor. He scorneth the words of wisdom from his fellows, and sloucheth his tongue with la-ha-ha. He is 50 today!

A flitting glance from a damsel goeth to his head like wine, and when the Cus Young Thing pateth his cheek and calleth him "Darling," his eyes drop from him and his pulse goes pit-a-pat.

He purchaseth blinding gold-rings and passionate haberdashery. He seeketh the bright lights and struts down his shoddy upon boulevards and his pulse goes pit-a-pat.

Doesn't hurt one bit! From a little "Freezone" on an aching arm, then slantly that corn aches burning then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digestion from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the last resort, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

It would seem magic feat, bringing sun where storm had been making ranks of gloom retreat, letting light and gladness in. Though no changes have been wrought in the web the days have spun, try a happy change of thought and the miracle is done! Oh, the miracle is done! Doubtless, if he sought, could find some good cause for misery, some wisely clings to each joy that comes his way and his spirit soars and sings, heedless though the changes come, for such a man change could weave in the fabric of your hours as would make fleet moments leave memories, not of thorns, but flowers. What is all this varied Earth, but the Earth of the Christian? Chances, your thought from care to mirth and the miracle is wrought!
